
2002 March Code Update and Other Training Opportunities and Requirements

Enclosed is information regarding training sessions addressing the Wisconsin Uniform Dwelling Code construction & HVAC requirements and the Uniform Plumbing Code, which are administered by the State Division of Safety & Buildings (S&BD). These courses are intended for building inspectors, and secondarily, designers, contractors, fire inspectors and others with an interest in Wisconsin's building codes. You will note that the UDC- Construction and HVAC training will be on the four Tuesdays in March this year.

Separate flyers have or will be sent for commercial building code training, electrical code training and Rental Weatherization training. You will note that this year's S&BD-sponsored Electrical Code training will occur a week earlier in the same cities as the UDC Update training described in this flyer, plus Stevens Point in the last week of March. The ICC commercial code training will occur on Wednesday and Thursday the same week and location as the UDC Update training.

In addition, there was Plumbing and POWTS training information in the October 2001 Plumbing Codes Report. You can check our website at www.commerce.state.wi.us for archives of the WPCR.

Inspector Continuing Education Requirements:

The continuing education requirements are 12 hours of credit every two years for each category, except for POWTS which is 6 hours every two years. Note that there are no continuing education requirements for the first renewal after your initial certification period following the passage of the exam for that category. Generally, attendance at the March UDC, Commercial Building and Electrical Updates every year will satisfy your continuing education requirements for all categories except POWTS, UDC-Plumbing and Rental Weatherization, for which other sessions are offered.

If you possess any of the inspection categories of UDC Construction, UDC-HVAC or UDC -Plumbing, you should check the mailer page of this flyer to determine your continuing education needs for each category. The hours earned reflect training rosters received in our office as of December 15, 2000. The abbreviations are:

UCI - Uniform Dwelling Code Construction Inspector

UHI - UDC Heating, Ventilating & Air Conditioning Inspector

UPI - UDC Plumbing Inspector

(Note that you can also check your continuing education status by going to our website, www.commerce.state.wi.us.)

If you have a due date of 3/30/02 for continuing education requirements, then you should be especially aware of how many hours you need. In May, you will receive a renewal application for those categories with a 3/30/02 continuing education date (and a June 30, 2002 expiration date) if you have earned the indicated number of continuing education hours by the 3/30/02 cutoff. If you fail to earn enough, then you would have to re-test to regain a category.

If attendance at the March Code Updates will not satisfy your needs, then carefully check the other training sessions listed elsewhere in this flyer. Note that you can also repeat your attendance at any of the March Updates.

If you have further questions regarding your credentials and continuing education status, contact the Customer Service Center at Tel. (608)261-8500.

Additional Training Session Information:

UDC-Plumbing - The Wisconsin League of Municipality and S&BD will also hold full-day Plumbing Inspector training sessions in Waukesha on March 12 and in Eau Claire on March 14. A separate flyer for these is being sent this month. Contact the League of Municipalities at (608)267-2386 if you don't receive one.

Erosion Control - Currently, you must be certified in either UDC - Erosion Control or UDC-Construction to enforce the UDC erosion control requirements. There are currently no continuing education requirements for the Soil Erosion category. There is optional erosion control training planned for February by the UW-Extension. Contact them at 608-263-1672.

International Codes Suite - Effective July 1, 2002, Wisconsin will adopt for commercial buildings several of the International Code Council (ICC) suite of codes, including the International Building Code, International Mechanical Code, International Energy Efficiency Code and International Fuel Gas Code. We are currently offering a 6-day training course on these codes at four locations around the state, which were publicized in a separate flyer to inspectors.

UW Code Refresher - On February 18-21, the UW-Madison Department of Engineering Professional Development will present its annual "Wisconsin Building Code Refresher," in cooperation with the Safety and Buildings Division. This year's agenda will provide training on the International Codes suite. Various length sessions are offered with different continuing education approvals. If you have not received a program brochure contact them at 800-462-0876 or their website, <http://aec.engr.wisc.edu>.

Other ICC Training - Several other organizations are currently offering training sessions on these codes and have obtained inspector continuing education approval from our agency. For further information, watch your mailbox, the Wisconsin Building Codes Report or contact the following organizations: BOCA, Tel. 800-214-4321, website - www.bocai.org or ICBO, Tel. (888) 699-0541, website - www.icbo.org.

UW Housing & Building Inspection Programs - In January and February, the University of Wisconsin will be offering multi-day training sessions in various inspection categories. If you did not receive a flyer in November, contact the UW Department of Engineering Professional Development at Tel. (800)462-0876 or their website, www.aec.engr.wisc.edu.

Wisconsin Building Inspectors Institute - The Wisconsin Building Inspectors Association will hold its annual Institute, April 17 to 19 in Eau Claire. The agenda will include various topics of interest to UDC construction, UDC HVAC and commercial building inspectors. If you do not receive a flyer in March for the Institute, contact the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at 608-267-2380. Course #405 Continuing education credit: 6 hours each for CBI, UCI, and UHI.

Energy & HVAC Efficiency Training - The Energy Center of Wisconsin continues to offer energy and HVAC related training around the state. Some of these sessions have received inspector continuing education credit. Contact them at 800-466-4631 or their website, www.ecw.org, for details.

Technical College Sessions - Several technical colleges and a code officials' union may be offering both short and longer code courses to prospective and current building inspectors. Contact the following for details:
